

Statements, Terms & Conditions

Writing Clear Science aims to provide the highest quality advice relevant to academics, students and professionals. Writing Clear Science supports the Australian Standards for Editing Practice prepared by the Council of Australian Societies of Editors (CASE).

The suggestions and advice given to Writing Clear Science clients when teaching, editing or proofreading, are made to the best of our knowledge and to the highest ethical standards.

It must be clearly understood that any changes made to any documents submitted for editing & proofreading are suggestions only. Any suggestions, recommendations, comments or changes will be made in the form of handwritten notes on paper, through Microsoft Word's 'track changes' or verbally. The decision to accept any advice, changes or suggestions is the sole responsibility of the client.

We take no responsibility for any changes of content, intent, or misinterpretation of a fact, statement, theory or conclusion that may result from changes to the clients' text.

Where relevant, we strongly recommend that clients inform lecturers, supervisors, employers or employees that additional writing tuition, advice or editing services have been engaged.

Writing Clear Science will always respect the privacy and confidentiality of its clients and their documents and will sign an approved confidentiality agreement if required.

When editing, proofreading and instructing clients, the intention of Writing Clear Science is not to take on the role of writer, ghost writer or co-writer. The copyright for all documents remain with the client and Writing Clear Science expects no acknowledgment in published documents.

When Writing Clear Science staff are engaged for their writing and research services, the copyright remains with the particular Writing Clear Science staff members.

Depending upon the type of document submitted, Writing Clear Science will maintain electronic archives of documents for backup purposes, but will take no responsibility for documents lost, damaged or corrupted. We will not be responsible for any disruption of service that occurs due to Internet service provider-related problems or other factors outside of our immediate control.

Writing Clear Science maintains links to Internet sites to assist those wishing to improve their writing and research skills. Writing Clear Science does not endorse the products, advertising or actions of any of these organisations. Writing Clear Science does not receive any remuneration for maintaining any links to any websites.

Writing Clear Science shall not be liable for any damages or loss, financial or otherwise, resulting from our services, and under no circumstances shall our liability exceed the amount paid for our services. Writing Clear Science reserves the right to refuse service to anyone, at our discretion.

The resources provided by Writing Clear Science during writing workshops are for private and educational purposes only. The distribution of this material is strictly limited. This material cannot be reproduced in form, without prior permission from Writing Clear Science.

The intellectual property of any information (verbal, printed or digital) provided by Writing Clear Science is solely owned by Writing Clear Science. The fees provided by any individual or organisation in payment for the provision of information, tuition, editing or advice by Writing Clear Science, does not include payment for the intellectual property or copyright of this material.